COMMUNICATION OF OUR ANTI-SLAVERY POLICY

The directors of the company have overall responsibility for this policy, its zero-tolerance position and its implementation, which will be achieved by cascading it down to stakeholders, subsidiaries, customers, consultants, suppliers and staff. All such people are encouraged to raise (whether with HR, Senior Management, Directors or other points of contact within the group) concerns about suspected modern slavery associated with the business or its stakeholders. Such concerns can be in respect of:

- Subsidiaries/entities who wish to do business with us or those who already have a business relationship with us;
- Anyone suspected of seeking to exploit another in a way which could amount to modern slavery;
- Any approach from a person acting on behalf of A24Group or one of our businesses who has invited you to participate in acts which could result in offences under the Modern Slavery Act.

We also encourage members of the public to contact a director, in confidence, to raise any concern, issue or suspicion of modern slavery in any part of our business.

We operate a whistleblowing policy, ensuring that all employees can raise concerns without fear of reprisals, covering treatment of colleagues, candidates, practices within our business, or clients/supply chain. We will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken. We are committed to ensuring no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of reporting, in good faith, their suspicion that modern slavery of whatever form is or may be taking place in any part of our own business or in any of our supply chains.

The Company's Directors will regularly review and, if necessary, amend this policy to ensure its continued effectiveness in combating modern slavery and human trafficking.
